Notes from Dianna....

Please remember to visit Chili's this first Wednesday, July 3rd, to benefit the Library. 15% of your bill will be donated to the Library Friends. What a great way to get an early start on the July 4th celebrations. Happy 4th!

Judy's Jottings....

With all of my spots filled with permanent assignments, I only had to make three calls this month. Thanks so much to all of you. You will notice that I have removed May Vance from the volunteer roster. May indicated that she might have more time in the future, so thanks for all you did and when you find the time to again volunteer, we would love to have you return.

I'd like to ask each one of you a favor. When you receive your newsletter, please check the calendar included with the newsletter against the calendar that you use each day. If you find that you are scheduled on a day that is not convenient, please give me a call and I'll work to find a substitute. Again, since all of you have so graciously agreed to permanent shifts, I am available to substitute on most days if I have advance notice. For the substitutes that I have not called, don't think you are off the hook because starting in October, I will again have permanent shifts open and I'll be calling you. You are an awesome group and we appreciate each and every one of you!

Meet Olivia Covelli . . .

Each month, we randomly select and feature one of our valued volunteers. This month, please meet Olivia Covelli. Olivia is fully retired here in Payson. When her husband passed in 2016, she had to decide whether to retire or work part-time. Her daughter and 6-year-old grandson lived here, so she chose to retire and help with her grandson while his mom worked. Looking to volunteer, she heard about the Homebound Program, which appealed to her because not only would she be delivering patrons' books, but also visiting patrons of limited mobility. After a year and a half of service, she has now assumed the post as Homebound Program Coordinator.

Olivia was born and attended high school, and business college in Southern California. After graduation, she worked in Palm Springs in retail, and later, for the Palm Springs Tram and the City of Indio. She married and moved to Scottsdale, where her husband worked in construction, and she became employed by Broadway PAC, an accounting and vendor services company. She shared that at 3 PM every day, the employees did the happy dance because they knew they wouldn't be getting any more customer complaints from the East coast due to the time difference. Her husband fell in love with Payson after coming through this area on their way to New Mexico, so they and their 18-year-old daughter moved here in 1995.

Once in Payson, Olivia worked for Child Protective Services for 7 years, the Christian camp for 4 years, and later, a doctor's office for the last 10 years of her career. These jobs were all very challenging and varied. She greatly enjoyed the variety and preferred to not work with the same company or career for extended time.

Olivia loves to read, listen to music, make jewelry, take short hikes with her dog and, of course, spend time with her grandson. Thank you, Olivia, for sharing your time and talent with the Payson Library homebound patrons!
